7. Holding Zone District

Title 1 – Zoning Ordinance
Chapter 2: Zoning Districts and Permitted Uses

Section 2. Zoning districts described.

- A. Agricultural (AG) District. The AG district is intended to allow for the use of land for agricultural uses within the City or other previously undeveloped vacant land or other low-density low-impact development. Some of these areas maybe best suited as natural conservation areas, because they are unsuitable for urban scale development due to severe environmental constraints.

The AG district is designed for uses that generally occur in rural rather than urban areas. These districts permit: very low density residential development generally on very large lots of land where public sanitary sewer service and public water supply are not available or not planned; agricultural and timbering uses; schools, churches and neighborhood-serving public uses.

- B. Dwelling Districts. The dwelling districts allow a range of densities from very low (one unit per acre) to as high as thirty units per acre. These districts offer a diversity of housing types (including single-family, two-family, townhouse, cottage and multifamily developments) throughout all density ranges established by the comprehensive plan.

Dwelling districts are to be applied in a manner consistent with the comprehensive plan. They should be applied according to the compatibility of the associated density with the prevailing development pattern of the area.

Dwelling districts also permit a limited range of compatible and supportive community-related uses such as, churches, schools, small day care centers and public buildings.

1. Single-Family (D-1, D-2 and D-3) Districts. The D-1, D-2 and D-3 districts are designed to allow for single-family residential development at a variety of densities, these districts may be applied to preserve the character of developed residential areas that are predominately single-family in nature and recommended to remain so by the comprehensive plan. Uses in these districts include: single-family homes, schools, churches, and neighborhood-serving public uses.
2. Two-Family, Cottage, Townhouse and Small Multi-Family (D-4) District. The D-4 district is designed to allow for either established residential subdivisions where the pattern of development contains both one-and two-family, cottage developments, small multi-family structures and where maintaining a mixture of housing types is desirable. Uses in this district include: one and two-family homes, cottages, townhouses, small multi-family, schools, churches and neighborhood-serving public uses.
3. Multifamily (D-5) District. The D-5 district is designed to allow for a range of medium to high density residential development characterized by multi-family structures. Generally, they will be found at or adjacent to major transportation or transit corridors and intersections and in downtown adjacent areas. Uses in this district include: multi-family rental and condominium structures and townhouses, typically in large developments or mid-rise and high-rise buildings, schools, churches, and neighborhood-serving public uses.

4. Planned Residential (D-6) District. The D-6 district is designed to allow for the flexible and orderly arrangement of large planned residential areas designed as a single unit in a manner consistent with a development plan. The owner or owners of a tract of land may submit a petition for the establishment of such a district provided the tract of land is five or more acres in area or less than five acres and is located within an urban renewal project area.

- C. Mixed-Use Districts. Mixed-Use districts, ranging from vibrant downtown environments to active urban villages, include residential, retail, entertainment, and office uses. The mixture can be vertical, with uses on different floors of a building, and horizontal, with different uses in adjacency. Mixed-use centers are pedestrian-friendly and provide concentrated population and activity centers that can support enhanced transit. Buildings should be oriented to the street, with active ground-floor uses or easy pedestrian access. Parking should be located in the rear of the parcel or to the side where lots are shallow, or in parking structures or parking areas that serve multiple lots. Uses that require large amounts of trucking are not suitable for mixed-use areas. Churches, schools and public uses are included in mixed-use areas.

To effectively implement the mixed use policies of the comprehensive plan, a variety of mixed-use districts are provided that offer a range of permitted uses and intensities of development. The lowest intensity districts encourage development at intensities commensurate with nearby residential areas and local shopping services. The higher intensity mixed-use districts, being more permissive in the allowable intensity of development and the range of nonresidential uses, are intended to be located in areas characterized by enhanced transit opportunities and high levels of support services.

1. Mixed-Use (MU-L) Low District. The mixed use low district is designed to be compact, walkable, and contain residential and commercial areas, often with a “Main Street” spine that historically served as a town center with two- to three-story buildings. Uses can be mixed horizontally (side-by-side), or vertically (one above the other). Uses in this district include: multi-family, townhouse, cottage and small-lot single-family residential, neighborhood supporting retail and services, offices, hotels and live/work structures. Main Street areas would typically be characterized by ground-floor uses including small markets, convenience retail and services, restaurants and cafes, and existing or potential residential uses on upper floors.
2. Mixed-Use (MU-M) Medium District. The mixed-use medium district will have a similar mix of uses as in Mixed-Use Low District, but with provision for up to mid-rise buildings and larger multi-family developments.
3. Mixed-Use (MU-H) High District. The mixed-use high district is designed to accommodate medium- to high-density office, residential, retail, artisanal industries and small warehouses that may be characterized as light industry that do not have noise, odor, illumination, trucking, or other adverse impacts on adjacent land uses. This district will could also include entertainment areas, and be transit-accessible or transit-ready locations. Intensity of development would vary by area. Uses in this district include: high density multi-family, loft, townhouse, and small-lot residential, retail and services, offices, hotels, large entertainment facilities, and live/ work structures. Ground-floor uses encouraged on desired pedestrian-intensive streets.

Chapter 2: Zoning Districts and Permitted Uses

4. Mixed-Use (MU-D) Downtown. The mixed-use downtown district is designed to accommodate Medium- to high-density office, residential, retail and entertainment areas that create vibrant 18–24-hour, 7-day a week live-work-play environments, typically mid-rise to high-rise; artisanal industries and small warehouses that may be characterized as light industry that do not have noise, odor, illumination, trucking, or other adverse impacts on adjacent land uses. This district is focused in the downtown area, and should be transit-accessible. Uses in this district include: high density multi-family, loft, townhouse, retail and services, offices, hotels, large entertainment facilities, and live/work structures.

D. Commercial Districts. Commercial districts are designed for establishments engaged in a variety of consumer sales and service uses, professional and business services, and recreational uses. Freestanding structures are common within these commercial districts, with most businesses desiring to be oriented toward major streets and thoroughfares.

1. Neighborhood Commercial (C-1) District. The neighborhood commercial district is designed to allow for areas of neighborhood retail and services that meet the day-to-day needs of residents and workers of surrounding neighborhoods (typically within a 1-mile radius) Uses in this district include: smaller grocery stores, banks, restaurants and services such as small professional and health offices, barber/beauty shops, dry cleaners, small- to medium-scale offices, schools, churches, and neighborhood-serving public uses. This district is intended to be accessible both by automobile with sufficient parking, but also designed to accommodate pedestrian and bicycle access.
2. General Commercial (C-2) District. This general commercial district is designed to allow for areas serving a citywide or regional trade area, including shopping and entertainment centers that offer a range of retail and service establishments. Uses in this district include: large supermarkets, department stores, movie theaters, big box stores, supporting retail and other services, leisure and entertainment uses, high density multi-family, schools, churches, and neighborhood-serving public uses. Office uses with ground floor retail are encouraged. This district is intended to be accessible by auto, but should be designed to accommodate pedestrians and bicyclists, provide interior circulation between properties, and appropriate landscaping to counter heat island and stormwater impacts.

Title 1 – Zoning Ordinance
Chapter 2: Zoning Districts and Permitted Uses

- E. Manufacturing and Industrial Districts. The manufacturing and industrial districts will implement the various manufacturing and industrial policy objectives of the comprehensive plan. The range of permitted uses, area requirements and operational standards reflect the intended purpose of the respective district.
1. Light Manufacturing (I-1) District. The light manufacturing district is designed to allow for light manufacturing and office uses, potentially in “business park” settings, and typically near major transportation routes including Interstates, State Highways, railroad spurs and airport facilities. Uses in this district include: warehouse and distribution uses, urban agriculture, supporting uses, such as minor retail and services to support the major uses. No residential uses are allowed in this district.
  2. Heavy Industrial (I-2) District. The heavy industrial district is designed to allow for heavy manufacturing. These uses typically require significant truck traffic and/or rail connections. Uses in this district include: heavy manufacturing, junkyards, scrap metal processors, and supporting uses included (minor retail, services, and offices connected to the industrial use or serving an industrial park). No residential uses are allowed in this district.
  3. Planned Manufacturing (I-3) District. The planned manufacturing district is designed to allow for the orderly arrangement of high quality manufacturing development designed for maximum compatibility internally and with surrounding environs. This district shall not be established on less than six acres; however, this may be reduced to one acre, or a half block consisting of all lot frontage between two intervening streets, if such property is situated within or adjacent to a "C" or "I" zoning district or else abuts on a street having at least four moving lanes. Uses in this district include: warehouse and distribution uses, urban agriculture, supporting uses, such as minor retail and services to support the major uses. No residential uses are allowed in this district.
  4. Mining, Landfill and Timbering Industrial (I-4) District. The mining, landfill and timbering district is designed to allow specific high intensity heavy industrial uses. Uses in this district include: heavy industrial, waste management, mining and timbering.
- F. Special Planned Districts. Special planned districts are intended to implement the context sensitive development and land use compatibility of large planned developments such as, large recreation areas, large health and institutional uses, and large mixed-use planned areas. The districts shall be used to promote site specific development in the location, integration, and arrangement of land uses, building, structures, utilities, access, parking and streets.
1. Planned Recreation (PRD) District. The planned recreational district is designed to allow for the orderly arrangement of large recreational facilities and associated commercial uses. Uses in this district include: amusement parks, athletic fields and stadiums carnivals, circuses, drive-in or enclosed theaters, fairgrounds, golf courses, practice golf driving range, race tracks (automobile, stock cars, motorcycles, horses and dogs), riding stables and trails, sport arenas, swimming pools, boating or water parks, theme parks, and zoos.

Chapter 2: Zoning Districts and Permitted Uses

2. Health and Institutional (HID) District. The health and institutional district is designed to allow for the orderly arrangement of buildings and uses on the campus of professional health care providers, hospitals, institutions of higher learning, including residential dwellings that are associated with such uses and are located on the same campus of the associated institution, as well as other uses that may from time to time be associated with, or accessory to, the aforementioned uses.
  3. Planned Mixed-Use (MXD) District. This planned mixed-use district is designed to allow for a compatible and complementary mixture of residential, office, commercial, cultural, institutional, governmental, and industrial uses in large planned developments. The purpose of this district is: to encourage flexible, creative and imaginative approaches to a range of urban development opportunities; to provide flexible and creative solutions to transportation and parking problems, public or private, motorized and pedestrian; to promote citizen interaction and a sense of community; to provide opportunities for affordable housing; to provide economic, convenient and efficient provision of sufficient public services; to assure the provision of public spaces and activities; to preserve significant natural features of the land; and to develop in a manner complementary with other land in the vicinity.
- G. Holding Zone (HZD) District. The purpose of district is to provide for the regulation of all uses and structures within areas which have been recently annexed and are yet to be developed in order to encourage the orderly timing and phasing of growth in these areas. The Holding Zone District may be applied to any areas which have been recently annexed for which the City finds should be held in a primarily undeveloped state for an interim period of time pending development and/or completion of a comprehensive land use plan for the subject area.
